

Place your band 12-20mm over the back of the slingshot (target side) and begin wrapping. Make sure it's tight enough to ensure that the band will not work loose whilst shooting but do not pull so tight that it's impossible to hold.

Apply two or three wraps, stretching the tie in material as you wrap. Again, stretch it tight, but don't over or under-do it.

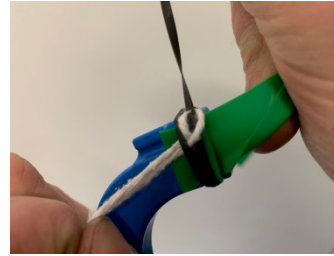

Fold the excess band material back over your wraps & wrap another two times. Always keeping the wrap material tight

Place a looped piece of string or similar on the target side of the folded wrap and make another TWO more tensioned wraps. These wraps lock in the end, so keep them neat and tight to hold the band securely.

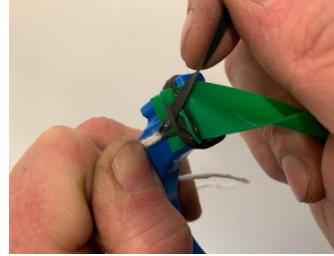

Carefully holding the tensioned wraps in place, feed the end of the wrap material through the loop. Don't lose the tension or you return to the start of these instructions.

Pull the loop material back underneath the final two wraps.

If you have a long piece of wrap material over-hanging you can always trim it back with a sharp pair of scissors.

Remember that these instructions are a guideline of how to tie your bands.

It can be quiet tricky to begin with but as with most things the more you try the better at it you will become.

Now repeat for your second fork tip checking that your pouch is in line with the bands ie. not twisted and your then good to go.

All that is left is to enjoy owning your Wasp Slingshot & always remember to shoot safely and wear your safety glasses.
